

國際華人病理學會

www.iacp.us

September 18, 2010

Dear IACP members:

Let's first give our applause to Dr. Wun-Ju Shieh for his outstanding service to our society in the academic year 2010-2011.

On September 22, the Chinese people all over the world will celebrate the Mid-autumn Festival (中秋節). I want to wish you and your family a happy Mid-Autumn Festival! (中秋节快乐/中秋節快樂!) Mid-Autumn Festival was dated back to more than 3000 years ago in the ancient Xia and Shang Dynasties (2000 B.C.-1066 B.C.). Mid-autumn Festival was also considered as a harvest festival. Hopefully everybody has a fruitful year.

As some of you already know, the 7th Asian-Pacific IAP meeting will be held in Taipei on May 20-24, 2011. The organization committee has recently launched a new website <http://www.apiap2011.com/index.htm>. Please check their website for updated information. The conference is also calling for abstracts (abstract submission deadline January 15, 2011).

I also want to remind you that 2011 USCAP annual meeting will be held on February 26-March 4, 2011 in San Antonio, Texas, USA. The deadline for abstract submission is October 1, 2010; 11:59 PM, Central Standard Time. As usual, IACP will give the Best Abstract Award to Chinese pathologists-in-training for their best abstracts presented at the 2011 USCAP annual meeting.

Thanks for your support to ICAP!

Sincerely yours,

Dengfeng Cao, MD PhD 曹登峰

IACP President

Department of Pathology and Immunology

Washington University School of Medicine

660 S Euclid Ave Campus Box 8118

St Louis, MO 63110, USA

Tel: 001-314-362-0127

Email: dcao@path.wustl.edu; dengfeng99@yahoo.com